No. 23 Goes Down To 10-4 Defeat Before Ostranders

By BERNIE GANTNER

Displaying their worst performance of the season, the No. 23 Redmen were soundly trounced by an aggressive group of mushballers, Toronto Ostranders of the Davisville League, going down by a 10-4 count in an exhibition affair. The visiting aggregation was by no means the best club to face the camp up to now, but certainly it was the better team on Monday evening's display at Stuart Scott field before a good crowd.

With Gordie Wright cutting the corners with a unique delivery, Ostranders ran up a comfortable margin, first at the expense of Joint McComb and then Bob King, who was making his first appearance in three weeks. McComb was in difficulty from the moment he stepped on the mound, laboring through five frames during which he was picked for seven hits good for six runs and issued during his sojourn on the rubber seven free tickets. Not once did he show any of the form which characterized the winning efforts of his last few attempts.

King took over the chores in the sixth. After escaping the wrath of the Ostrander sluggers for two innings, King was solved for four straight hits and four runs in the top half of the eighth. The game was beyond redemption when this flurry of tallies crossed the platter, although the locals did make a vain attempt to get back in the game in their half of the inning. The Redmen pushed across two runs at this point. However, with runners parked on second and third and two gone, Wright was equal to the occasion, forcing Taylor to roll out for the third out.

The camp opened scoring in the initial stanza with a single marker but the soldiers were never in the picture after that. They just couldn't do anything right, committing three errors

SERVICES FOR J. E. NESBITT AT ST. PAUL'S

John Edward Nesbitt, former mayor of Newmarket, died Tuesday morning at his home on Main St. following a stroke on Monday. He was in his 67th year. Funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's Anglican church by Rev. G. H. Johnson, M.A., D.D., Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

Long familiar as a dealer in automobiles and farm implements, Mr. Nesbitt came to Newmarket 35 years ago from Gifford where he had farmed. When he first came to Newmarket, he dealt in horses and buggies and at one time, stabled his horses on Timothy St.

Hockey was an abiding interest with Mr. Nesbitt. He followed the progress of Newmarket teams with an enthusiasm which never abated. In an effort to help promote the sport, he joined with other Newmarket citizens in financing the construction of the Newmarket arena.

He demonstrated his interest in community life by serving on the town council for 15 years, five of them, from 1928 to 1933, as mayor. At the time of his death, he was a member of the Newmarket high school board.

He was a charter member of the Newmarket Lions club and a member of the local Orange and Masonic lodges. During his term of office as mayor, he helped establish industries here.

A staunch Conservative all his life, he was a past president of the North York Conservative Association and made it a point to be present at as many riding meetings as possible. He nominated as candidate in the recent provincial election the present representative of the riding, Maj. A. A. Mackenzie.

He was warden of St. Paul's church for many years and was active in all the church functions.

Mr. Nesbitt was born at Notawaga, Ont., the son of the late George Nesbitt and Ann Johnston. At an early age, his parents moved to Gifford where he attended public school. He had his high school education at Newmarket. After he left school, he farmed at Gifford until moving to Newmarket.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, the former Emma Wood; four daughters, Mrs. Arthur West (Mae), Mrs. B. E. J. Wilson (Jean), Mrs. Gordon Ough (Helen), and Joan, at home; and one sister, Mrs. S. J. Steele, Gifford.

As a result of an appeal for support, close to $16,000 was raised in Newmarket in aid of the Hospital for Sick Children building fund. The Newmarket objective was $3,500.

ROBERT WINDSOR IS EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Robert Windsor, former Whitchurch township constable, was found seriously wounded in an upstairs bedroom at his home in Ballantrac at 12.30 a.m. Monday.

Hearing a gun discharged, his wife and daughter rushed to the room and found Mr. Windsor with a wound in his forehead.

Mr. Windsor is in the Toronto General hospital and is expected to recover. Constable Ronald Watt, who investigated, said that Mr. Windsor had been despondent.

Mr. Windsor was the chief figure in the Whitchurch township police investigation of December, 1943, and at crucial moments unable to complete plays that normally would have been easy put-outs. On the other hand, the visitors possessed a bit of "horse-shoe-luck" and couldn't do anything wrong. On three separate occasions, they robbed the local swatmen of sure hits by coming through with the unexpected.

Topping Gordie Wright's tight defensive support was Sutherland's gallop in deep left to haul down Tommy Jamieson's bid for a homer. Frank Morris, portly Ostrander right fielder, was the big hitter, crashing out a double and triple. Johnny Callanan, Tommy Jamieson, Billy Taylor and Rep Giddolin garnered the camp safeties.

IN TORONTO

Capt. J. A. Patterson, M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patterson, arrived in Toronto Wednesday and is expected in Newmarket next week. A member of the R.C.A.M.C., Capt. Patterson won his award on the Normandy beaches during the invasion for attending wounded under heavy fire.

WO1 Robert Donald Cody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Cody, Millard Ave., arrived home this week on a 30-day leave before being posted for training for fighting in the Far East. Three years in the R.C.A.F. as a wireless air gunner, he went overseas 15 months ago.

M. O. H. Asks Council Aid In Removing Nuisances

"I have been receiving a number of complaints about the amount of sediment in the water," Dr. J. H. Wesley, medical officer of health, told Newmarket town council Monday night. "I have had the water analysed and am told that it is caused by the amount of iron in the water eroding the pipes."

Dr. Wesley said that he had been told that some means could be taken to prevent such erosion and that he had asked Dr. A. E. Berry, director of the sanitary engineering division of the Ontario Department of Health, to come to Newmarket to inspect the pipes.

Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans said that he had asked Dr. Berry to come to Newmarket for the same reason some weeks ago but so far he had not arrived. "A lot of the sediment went through the water pipes when we were flushing the hydrants," he said. "Some sediment went through the pipes, too, when we were fixing the pipe on Water St."

Dr. Wesley said that he had received a number of complaints about outside toilets and asked council's assistance in having them abolished. The town solicitor, N. L. Mathews, said that under the Ontario health act the medical officer of health had the power to have them removed, inside conveniences installed, and the cost billed against the property.

Dr. Wesley said that he had had some complaints about mink farms being a nuisance and asked council to pass a by-law keeping farms outside the town limits. Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales told council that some restrictions should be placed on the keeping of livestock within the town limits. He suggested the council consider means whereby anyone wishing to raise livestock or keep it within the town limits be obliged to apply for a license from the town. "In that way, we would be able to keep a check on them," he said.

Dr. Wesley said that 405 school children and pre-school children had been vaccinated and the results were considerably better than had been expected. He said the board of health was completely satisfied with the work done by the public health nurse, Miss Jessie Smith, Reg. N.

AUG. 6 CIVIC HOLIDAY

A resolution setting aside Monday, August 6, as a civic holiday was passed by Newmarket town council at its meeting on Monday.

SCHOOL EQUIPMENT GIVEN PRECEDENT

A letter from the Newmarket public school board estimating the cost of school books for the public school pupils at $1,800 for the first year and between $900 and $1,000 for each succeeding year was read to the Newmarket town council Monday night. The letter was filed without further action by the council.

The letter from the school board was in answer to a council recommendation that the board consider supplying books to the public school children without cost.

The board's letter pointed out that members and teachers had discussed the provision of free books at an earlier date but as far as the present year was concerned, there was no provision in the budget for such an action. The letter suggested that if the council wished to advance funds for the purchase of the books, the board would be glad to meet with the council to discuss it.

The letter concluded: "The board feels that considerable money will have to be spent in school furniture and equipment as soon as it is available and that children will benefit to a much greater extent if the money is used to bring the buildings and equipment up to date but they are prepared to meet council whenever it is convenient."

FRANK R. ADAMS, FUNERAL WAS MONDAY

An employee of the Office Specialty Co. for 29 years, half of his 58-year lifetime, Frank Reginald Adams died July 13 at his Newmarket home, Joseph St. He had been ill more than four months.

Born at Newbury, Berkshire, England, Mr. Adams was married in 1912 to Emily Jane Williams who, with their daughter, Mrs. Bert W. Notcutt, Toronto, survive him. He also leaves a brother and two sisters, all in England. Two other sisters predeceased him.

At the time of his death Mr. Adams was foreman of the trimming department in the industry where he had served so long.

For a number of years he was financial secretary of his church, the Congregational-Christian, and a member of the choir. His hobbies were music and photography.

A funeral service was held at the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose on July 16, with his minister, Rev. Alexander B. Stein, in charge. Interment was at Newmarket cemetery. Pallbearers were Harold Craddock, F. Bennett, R. Boag, W. Epworth, B. Wilson and N. Hopper.

SUGGEST HALL AS MEMORIAL FOR TWO WARS

At a special council meeting Tuesday night, Newmarket council passed a resolution instructing the town clerk, Wesley Brooks, to contact H. Babcock, construction engineer, and request him to draft a tentative plan and estimated cost of a community hall. The resolution followed council discussion of the prospect of a community memorial hall.

Capt. Aubrey Davis was present at the council meeting. He told council members during a discussion of the feasibility of such a memorial that when he mentioned a memorial hall at the V-E Day services, he had in mind a community auditorium which could serve for assemblies, banquets, music and drama presentations.

"It is something Newmarket has long needed," he said. "It has been a miracle that we have not had any accidents in the town hall which is being used for an assembly hall at present." Capt. Davis said he felt that such a community hall would serve as a memorial to the men from Newmarket who lost their lives in the two wars.

It was thought by some of the councillors that a place could be made in such a hall for a monument of some sort commemorating the service of Newmarket men and women in two wars.

The meeting was one of discussion with councillors advancing their ideas on how a memorial might best be erected. It was decided at the close of the meeting that an engineer be asked to outline the possibilities of such a project and with these facts on hand, a committee representing the various organizations in town be called to discuss them more fully before any further action was taken.

Pine Orchard Union Church Opens To Full Congregation

Last weekend was a memorable time in the community of Pine Orchard. The new Union church swung open its doors to the neighbors and friends on Sunday morning and anon a capacity congregation was on hand despite the wet weather.

The service was conducted by the minister, Rev. R. R. McMath, and the act of dedication was carried out by Rev. M. L. Sanderson, president of the Toronto Conference, United Church of Canada, who also preached. The praise was led by an augmented choir which also sang two anthems. At the evening service Mr. McMath preached and greetings were conveyed by Rev. Mr. Moddle, Aurora. Capt. Hugh Maclean, Salvation Army War Service, Newmarket, led a song service and recognition was made of the many donations to the church furnishings.

On Monday evening, a garden party and supper were held on the lawn. Nearly 500 sat down to supper. The program was presented by the Johnson and Fallowdown entertainers from Sunderland. Among those who signed the guest book on Sunday were visitors from Saskatchewan, Uxbridge, Aurora, Newmarket, Sutton, Queensville, Toronto, Woodbridge, Oshawa, Gormley, and North York.

Joshua Stickwood, who bore the expense of installing the hydro and fixtures, won the gratitude of the congregation.

CADETS ENJOY 10-DAY CAMP

The 21 boys of the Newmarket Air Cadet Squadron 277 who represented the squadron at Camp Borden arrived in Newmarket Saturday with reports of a wonderful time at camp. The squadron was in the charge of Flt-Lieut. Fred S. Thompson, assisted by PO R. C. Morrison.

The daily timetable of the boys at camp was widely varied and offered opportunity for the developing of individual talents. Time was devoted to practical instruction on air frames, engines, instruments, parachutes, control tower, armament, photography and drill.

The boys were given rides in army vehicles, everything from a tank to a jeep, and in planes.

The camp period was climaxed with a field day when of the 26 awards competed for by 550 senior boys, Newmarket cadets won six. Flt-Lieut. Thompson said that he was very proud of the boys' record on the sports field, especially in the two and a half mile across country run and in the baseball tournament when the Newmarket team reached the semi-finals.

Plan Shower Pool In Lions Playground, Town Offers Water

Newmarket town council was asked Monday night at its regular meeting if the town would supply water for a shower pool in Lions park if the construction of the pool was undertaken by the Newmarket Fire Brigade in co-operation with the Newmarket Lions club. Council was unanimous in approving of the request and a committee of council will meet with the firemen and Lions to complete the arrangements.

The request was made to the council by Leo Cull on behalf of the firemen. "On behalf of the fire brigade, I am asking the Newmarket council if the town will supply water for a shower pool in the park," he said. "The firemen are thinking of using the fund that has been accumulated for a swimming pool for this purpose." "Are you going to put your fund under the management of the Lions?" asked Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans. "We haven't decided on those details yet," replied Mr. Cull.

"How much water would be required?" asked Reeve Fred A. Lundy. "On some days, none at all," replied Mr. Cull. "You would have to turn it off on Monday, wash day," said Mr. Evans. "There would be someone to regulate the use of the water," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales. "The pool would be about 30 ft. by 40 ft. and have a five or six inch curb," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "There would be overhead pipes which would carry the water. It would be somewhat the same as a mass shower bath. There is not near the danger of diseases that are common to swimming pools. A schedule could be arranged for the use of the water."

"I see no reason why the request should not be granted," said Councillor George Byers. "I move that the plan be approved and a committee named to meet with the firemen and Lions," said Mayor Dales. The council passed the motion unanimously.

Prexy Special, A Dog Race Adds Zest To Oriole Win

By ORVILLE GANTON

With softball deluxe and thrilling dog races as an added attraction, the fans had a high-class bill served up at Stuart Scott school grounds Tuesday evening. A new scoreboard, a well manicured diamond and the season's largest crowd refutes any suggestion that the league is going to the dogs. However, if Gibney numbered his dogs and had his plate umpires signal their decisions, he could now boast a substantial modern sports "jerk."

The game was a typical Army-Oriole nip and tuck affair for five innings, then Orioles broke through Army's defense to put it in the bag, 12-6. Ruth Armitage was Johnny on the spot for Orioles. The flier from Toolsville had 13 put outs and covered more ground than a buck-rake. She and Osborne retired the Army in the fifth on three pitches unassisted.

Cannonball Schroeder's speed had Orioles groggy for five innings. Dot McCarger, her game little catcher with swollen and burning hands, was unable to hold the tall westerner's fire ball. As a result, four of Oriole's runs were unearned on errors to the catcher.

Orioles' infield was airtight. Their final double play that snuffed out Army's last rally was a honey. Peg pulled Osborne out of a bad hole with a smart running catch on a well-tagged ball. A determined and fighting ball club swear they will clip Cardinals' wings this evening.

CARDS TAKE ORIOLES

By ORVILLE GANTON

Scoring six runs on their last turn at bat, Cardinals took another photo-finish game from Coach Ruddock's team, the Orioles, by a score of 14-12. The red-sweatered clan seem to have a last-inning jinx on the other band of home-grown. Mary Osborne, Oriole's slugging third-sacker, muffed their last chance when, with two mates on deck, she over anxiously popped weakly to the pitcher to end the cat-and-mouse fray.

The pitching was even steeper, each pitcher allowed 15 hits. Both teams, however, turned in a top-notch brand of fielding; Manning and VanZant especially handled some hard shoe-polish hits very neatly.

The game was fast; the seven innings were played in just 55 minutes. Hisey retired the Orioles' side in the third with four pitches. Blight, who hurried for the O's, got Cardinals' power-house hitters, Hisey, Manning and McKenzie, on five pitches in the fourth inning. She also set her opponents down in order in the second and fifth. Mary Ellen McInnis, little Oriole goosing, drew a round of

GETS CHURCHILL "V"

In a letter to his wife and parents, Deputy-Reeve and Mrs. Arthur D. Evans, Sgt. Harold Evans tells of a sports meet held by the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers on Dominion Day in England. All the children in the district were invited, he wrote, and there were ponies for them to ride, slides to play on, and lemonade and ice cream was served to them. The children were serenaded by a pipe band and movies were shown in the gymnasium.

In the sports events, Sgt. Evans' section won the tug of war.

In a later letter he writes of having seen Prime Minister Winston Churchill drive past in his touring car while he was on leave in England. With other Canadians, he cheered the premier and in response received the famous Churchill "V" sign. Sgt. Evans reports that there is still plenty of work to be done by his unit and his homecoming is still far in the future.

NEGLECTED CEMETERY

The old Anglican cemetery on Eagle St. has been so neglected that to the traveller, it appears little more than another roadside thicket. Yet in this cemetery are buried the remains of the men and women who helped found Newmarket, men and women who had a great part in the settling of this district.

The cemetery was first used soon after 1800 and was later deeded to St. Paul's church. Some of the memorials are erected to men who served in the war of 1812. John McDonald, chief factor of the Hudson Bay Company, and his wife, Mary, are buried there. McDonald was a friend of Sir John Franklin, the English explorer who lost his life in a fruitless search for the North West Passage. He was buried in Newmarket the year before Franklin set out on his last expedition.

Because of his kindness to Franklin, Lady Franklin had a tombstone sent out from England to mark McDonald's grave. The tombstone lay for years in the packing case in which it had travelled until at last, through the efforts of Alexander Muir, author of the Maple Leaf and once a teacher in Newmarket, the stone was uncrated and set in place.

The passage of time and the ravages of weather have made many of the names on the tombstones imperceptible but an earlier author, Rev. Arthur J. Paistone, rector of St. Paul's church, writes: "There are the graves of the Robinson family, John West in 1821, and many more of an earlier date. Dr. Christopher Beswick is buried just inside the gate. This old army surgeon gave the Glebe land to St. Paul's. He died March 28, 1839, aged 118 years. His stone is on the ground.

"So is that of Esther Beman, mother of Sir Beverley Robinson.

"Then there are the graves of Lieut.-Col. Carlew, the man who had the courage to oppose Mackenzie (William Lyon Mackenzie) at his meeting in Newmarket. . . Col. Cotter who with his violin and the musical members of his family led the singing in St. Paul's for a while.

"Among the larger groups of graves are those of the Gamble family, and the Townleys and the Eoes. It is a thrilling story, full of interest, pathos and romance. The following names are there on other recognizable epitaphs, Gill, Turnbull, Pulford, May, Sproston, Hardy, Phelps, McEyre, Allan, Darlon, Lindner, Boulteux, Calkins, Blackstone, McArthur, Fowler, Barwick, Irving, Elsmount, Ware, Nicol, Arksey, Malloy, Richardson, Simpson, Price, Burkill, Torrance, Maguire, McMaster, Ritchie, Brodie, Hamilton, Patchell, Homer, Smyth and Bell. They all represent lives lived, pioneering service rendered."

The old burial ground is important not only to the history of the town but to the history of York county. It is ideally situated and with little expense or effort, could be easily turned into a beauty spot. As Rev. Patstone concluded, "It would be but scant gratitude if we today could at least see to it that this last resting place of so many who toiled to make this country what it is, made more like a garden than a wilderness."

DRIVING AT NIGHT

Night travel for the motorist is increasingly hazardous. Road markers have become almost indistinguishable in the dark through lack of maintenance. Many older cars have defective lighting. The roadbeds have not had the care given them in pre-war days. Worst of all, however, is the irresponsible motorist who blinds the driver of an approaching car with the glare of too bright headlights.

When a motorist is faced by a bright light, he cannot make out objects in front of him. After the lights have passed, there is a short period of blindness until the eyes become re-acustomed to the dark. Even in a slow moving car, it is possible to travel quite a distance with the driver guiding the wheels by instinct alone after his eyes have been made useless by a mis-directed headlight. He won't see the pedestrian on the side of the road. He won't see the obstacles in front of him. The driver of a car with glaring headlights not only endangers the occupants of an approaching car but the pedestrians on the roadside as well.

There was a time when it was considered a courtesy to change from bright to dull lights as cars approached each other. The blinking of an oncoming car's lights was accepted as a signal that the approaching headlight bothered him. Neither the signal nor the courtesy were observed by four out of five cars during a drive from Newmarket to Toronto recently.

More effective police control is one way of riding the roads of glaring headlights. The co-operation of manufacturers and mechanics in directing headlights to the right-hand side of the road instead of into the oncoming drivers' eyes is another remedy. Overhead illumination on main highways would do the most good. A well lit highway with its edge defined by reflectors would make the use of bright headlights unnecessary. Until such lighting can be provided, however, more vigilance in observing the courtesies of the road will do much to alleviate the hazards of night driving.

POWER POLITICS

If the inferences to be drawn from two recent newspaper reports from abroad are any indication, the pattern of European give and take hasn't much changed despite the new unity of purposes supposedly forged in war. One report is dated Moscow and comes from the British United Press correspondent stationed there. It reads in part:

"The new Poland which already has been created without waiting for the next peace treaty is undoubtedly the richest country in Europe next to Soviet Russia. It was shown in a trip to that strife-torn country.

"Poland now outranks Germany, Italy, Spain and Sweden among the world's powers and may in a few years rank as high as France.

"It extends from the so-called Curzon Line on the east to the Neisse and Oder rivers on the west and includes Upper Silesia, one of the best industrial regions Germany had, superior in many respects to the Ruhr. . . Thus, in exchange for wheat land, pine forests and marshes and mountains, Poland has been shown to have acquired a ready-made empire."

Presumably, it is the inclusion of the industrial installations of Upper Silesia which gives Poland its "ready-made empire." The correspondent notes that "although the industrial installations in Silesia were in good shape, they were unmanned. The Germans fled westward before the Russian army and so far the Poles have been unable to repopulate the industrial areas."

Compare this report with one filed from Berlin by Ross Harkness, Toronto Daily Star staff correspondent over a week earlier. His report reads in part as follows: "The Russians are rebuilding their shattered war factories and setting up great new industries they never before had with equipment and technicians from Germany. Germany's entire industrial machine east of the Elbe has been transplanted bodily to the Soviet Union, including the great industries of Silesia."

If this is the case, then the industrial region given Poland is worthless as such. Poland, as other German occupied nations, was stripped of its machinery and tools and its trained workmen scattered in slave labor battalions. It will be some years before the demands for industrial machinery will be met. In these circumstances, the chance of Poland rising to prominence as an industrial nation is exceedingly slim.

If Upper Silesia was stripped of industrial machinery before being turned over to Poland, it would appear that Russia has no intention of permitting Poland to attain any prominence as an industrial nation, or for that matter, prominence in any field. The Russians have consistently aimed at holding Poland subservient to their will. For what reason? We think the answer is that Russia seeks to create a cordon of friendly "buffer" states between itself and the rest of Europe, doing in reverse what was attempted by England and France before the war.

Here is the suggestion of a new flowering of power politics such as plagued Europe to war. It was in part to provide an alternative to power politics that the San Francisco conference was assembled. It seems to us that the disposition of Upper Silesia and its industrial equipment is more a matter to be decided by representatives of such a conference than to be decided by one nation to the detriment of another.

SETTING STANDARDS

When Dr. J. H. Wesley, medical officer of health, appeared in Newmarket town council to ask its help in ridding the town of public nuisances, the question of setting standards for residential areas was given notice long deferred. Specifically, Dr. Wesley brought attention to outside toilets and referred to complaints he has received regarding them.

Dr. Wesley, as medical officer of health, has it within the scope of his powers to declare outside conveniences a public nuisance and have inside installations made and the cost billed against the property. He may act without any reference to council.

The council does have a responsibility, however, in setting the standards which will apply within the town limits. Building standards are of importance if the character of a neighborhood is to be maintained and the investment of the home owner made worthwhile. The keeping of livestock of any sort, within the town limits should be covered by town statute. For while such an activity on the part of one may not become a public nuisance it may lead to abuses of the privilege by others.

It was suggested a statute making a license obligatory before an owner or tenant could keep livestock within the town limits be passed. Would it not be better to have the health officer meet with a building engineer and what other experts needed to draft a recommendation which would provide Newmarket property owners and citizens complete protection in all departments? The effect of such a statute would be to make the building of new homes a safer investment.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

MR. FINES AND ELECTIONS

(The Sun, Swift Current, Sask.)

It would appear that the aim of the people who control the destinies of the C.C.F. party in Saskatchewan is to eventually create class government throughout, which shows a complete lack of consideration for the desires of just about half the voters in Saskatchewan who clearly indicated by their vote that they did not want socialism. If two years ago the provincial treasurer of this province had got up on a public platform in Regina and asked Liberal supporters to throw their weight behind any candidates in the civic elections there would have been the most reverberating chorus of complaint for C.C.F. leaders that this province has ever heard. It would have been stoutly charged as an utterly undemocratic thing for any member of the government to do. There is no question about the howl that would have arisen.

Yet C. M. Fines, provincial treasurer of Saskatchewan, did just that at the annual C.C.F. convention in Regina a week ago, asking C.C.F. supporters to get behind the labor candidates in the next Regina civic election, because then the city council would be sympathetic to the C.C.F. provincial government. What would have happened in Swift Current a couple of years ago if Mr. Taggart had asked Liberals in Swift Current to support certain candidates in our own civic election? We can guess, with a fair degree of accuracy.

Politicians, in our opinion, have no right to meddle in civic affairs to that extent. No division of our political set-up in Canada has been so vacillating for the rights of "the people" than C.C.F. party men, yet here is plain political interference of the most flagrant type from people who preach these things as against a very substantial minority. If Mr. Fines advocates that sort of thing for Regina, doubtless a similar party line will be emulated for every municipal and rural municipal government in the province. Mr. Fines, we take it, reflects party policy. This is to us a definite indication of the insertion of the "thin edge of the wedge" and points without equivocation to the ultimate plan for Saskatchewan. The guinea pig of socialism in Saskatchewan is being groomed and fattened up. This encroachment into the democracy of civil and municipal government has come sooner than we expected.

Ganton Finds Children Approve Of Playground

By ORVILLE GANTON

The Lions' park every day is an appealing picture of happy bright children engaged in vigorous and healthy games. The supervisors seem capable and efficient and enjoy managing this children's paradise. Mr. Hall and his assistant, Fred Evans, have the children organized in teams according to age with schedules drawn up for the various events. The children appear to be obedient and listen with attention to their tolerant and kindly overseers.

Young Glenna West insists it is fun supervising the girls under nine. She had 60 little tots romping on teeters and merry-go-round. The new slide was doing a land office business as a long queue of youngsters awaited their turn to polish its surface. Another group were stimulating their creative faculty playing in the sand box. One pet little miss with beaming countenance politely informed us she was not just playing in the sand, but was "makin' a church."

Rosina Wadsworth, aged eight, said she liked the merry-go-round best. Shirley Wright proudly revealed she had not missed one day yet. Seven-year-old Marion Gibson, undoubtedly a coming track and field star, "wished there were more races."

Audrey Rowland, who looks after the girls over nine, thought the average attendance for her class would be approximately 70. She was refereeing a game of volley ball between the boys and girls of group B. Volley ball is very popular and enthusiasm was at fever pitch. Roddy West, aged ten, agreed volley ball was the best game while Benva Wilson and Barbara Roberts enjoyed dodge ball most.

The girls Red A team: Joan and Pauline Bovair, Florence Cain, Shirley Deller, Jean Deavitt, Jean Bennett, M. Climpson, Susanne Kembell and Joyce Cassels embarrassed the boys' Red A team by drubbing them 14-13 at softball.

The boys had only six players: John DeLaHaye, R. Newton, R. Coveney, B. Westcott, J. Watt, B. Keffer. They also had to get four girls out every inning and bat wrong handed. At least that was the line they offered to puff up their deflated ego.

The girls' Blue A team blamed their defeat by the boys on teammates Doris Wilson and V. Cleveland who failed to show up. Girls' Blue A: Bev. Hall, Mary E. McInnis, Jean Staley, Mariel and Dorothy Broughton, Joan Deller, J. Widdifield. Blue boys' A: D. Bunn, J. Hugo, P. Westcott, F. Morton, D. Chalk, P. Peeters.

Captain Bobby Forhan was "crabbing" because some of his fellows had gone swimming.

Susanne Kembell, a young visitor from Rochester, N.Y., said she was certainly enjoying her holidays in Canada.

The majority of the children were clothed too heavily to get the full benefit of the sun. They should wear sunsuits or suitable garments for assimilating their winter's supply of vitamin A.

Mr. Hall confided that he and the Lions hope to provide some real treats for all who have a reasonably good attendance record.

W.C.T.U. NEWS

By Leonora Starr, press correspondent, Newmarket W.C.T.U.

Alaska's Indian and Eskimo tribes along the banks and plateaus of the Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers are opposing the efforts of white liquor traders, asserts Dr. George Dale, Alaskan Indian service education executive. The liquor traders have become persistent with the advent of large white communities.

At one place, once a distant and isolated Eskimo community, an important airbase was built. The influx of white workers brought an influx of liquor dealers who quickly circulated a petition among the whites to have the closed community opened to liquor interests.

The natives heard what was going on. They circulated their own petition asking that the workers' petition be denied and declared that the workers, as newcomers, had no residential voting or petitioning rights. The workers' petition was thrown out of court and the liquor dealers forced to leave the village.

Dr. Dale also told of a white trader who moored his liquor-laden boat at the bank while he went into the village to solicit trade. In some mysterious fashion the boat slipped her mooring and later was found swirling downstream in the swift current.

Indian service teachers, working hand in hand with the missionaries, conduct an educational campaign against liquor wherever they go. Under the guidance of these leaders, scores of native villagers, by exercising local option, have banned all forms of intoxicating liquors and have succeeded in vigorously enforcing the local ordinances.

BOXES FOR BRITAIN CLUB SENT THANKS

A note of appreciation from England for the ditty-bags sent overseas by the Newmarket Boxes for Britain club has been received by Mrs. Wm. Laparde in Newmarket. The letter was written by the mother of a little girl who received one of the 17 ditty-bags the club sent over last Christmas. President of the club is Mrs. George Smith.

Excerpts from the letter follow: "We have got to thank you for so much. I wonder if you do realize the joy you have brought to our blitzed kiddies. Poor darlings, some of them have been through so much, losing their homes, and in some cases one or both parents. . . We are all so thankful for the peace in Europe, and my husband and myself feel much happier now that we have our little girl, aged nine years, back with us. She experienced some of the bombings but we decided to send her away before her nerves gave way."

The members of the club have sent the following articles to Toronto for shipment overseas last Tuesday:

Six towels, 12 ladies' nightgowns, 18 babies' dresses, 18 babies' gertudies, 12 babies' vests, 72 diapers, 12 carriage pads, 12 knitted coats, 12 knitted bonnets, 15 prs. knitted booties; 72 diapers, 12 carriage pads, 12 knitted coats, 12 knitted bonnets, 15 prs. knitted booties;

Bell Postwar Rural Budget Includes Extended Service

Within three to five years after men and materials again become available, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada plans to spend almost $10,000,000 to extend rural telephone service to some 20,000 more rural dwellings in Ontario and Quebec, according to an article in the current issue of The Blue Bell, monthly magazine for Bell Telephone employees.

This sum covers reconstruction, the provision of facilities to serve those whose applications have had to be deferred because of wartime shortages and unexpressed demand, and new construction to take care of expected growth beyond present pole lines. It will involve the erection of some 2,600 miles of new pole line and 20,000 additional miles of circuit.

It does not cover the cost of converting rural exchanges to the same system as that in large cities and other service improvements which will help the company make its contribution to the postwar objective of full employment.

Further studies are still being made to find out what people in rural areas think about telephone service and what they want. On this sound basis of fact, still more extensive plans may be developed.

Providing high quality telephone service at a cost the farmer is able to pay is by no means an easy task, the article states. It is estimated that about 80 percent of all rural families in the Bell Company's territory are located either along existing lines or near enough to them so that service can be provided without a special construction charge. Yet at the present time only 38 percent of rural dwellings have service. Full advantage is being taken of economical methods of construction introduced before the war and study is being made of other developments brought to the fore in recent years.

"The remarkable accomplishments of radio telephony in the war have produced many fanciful pictures of the peacetime uses of radio communication," the Blue Bell article says. "However, experiments are now under way to determine the feasibility of providing this type of service to farms located many miles away from the nearest telephone exchange."

In addition to extending the scope of rural service, the Bell Company plans to continue its policy of continued improvement in quality. In the ten years following the war, it is expected that more than 100 rural exchanges will be converted to dial operation. This will permit the installation of the latest and most efficient types of telephone sets, which will be more convenient to use than the present ones and will afford clearer transmission.

As materials become available, the number of parties per rural mile will be steadily reduced and the type of ringing provided whereby a subscriber hears the ring for only half of the other parties on his line.

"The Bell Company has long given advice as to the operation of lines maintained by the farmers themselves," the article concludes. "Such help will be increased after the war, ranging from advice on how such a group should handle collections, financing and other management problems, to the very important item of how to give desirable service."

It costs only 25 cents (if paid in a week) to tell thousands of people about that article you do not need.

By GOLDEN GLOW

Really, I don't know whether to head this "St. Swithin" or "Sunday Night's Rainbow," for they are both so closely connected in my mind that one leads to the other. Or does it? Well, I'd better explain myself for fear there are some who were inside Sunday evening and so failed to see the gorgeous, flaming sunset and the magnificent rainbow that spanned the southern sky later.

But first—did you recall the fact on Sunday that it was St. Swithin's Day, and according to ancient tradition, if it rains on St. Swithin's Day, July 15, it will rain every day for the next 40 days. I need not remind you that it rained on Sunday, July 13—in fact it poured all day with scarcely a let-up—and folks looked gloomy and shook their heads at the thought that they would have more and more rain as the season advances. For we have had nothing but rain since our lovely summer weather in March. The months seem to have managed to get mixed—as if the weatherman picked up the wrong month when he adjusted his calendar!

However, I think the rainbow in the evening on Sunday countered the old legend about 40 days' rain. "Rainbow at night, shepherd's delight. Rainbow in the morning, sailors' warning." At any rate yesterday and again this morning, Tuesday, July 17, the sun is shining from a clear deep azure sky and it looks as if it never had rained or ever would again. Clear and sunny and absolutely no wind, not even a breeze—no—not even a zephyr. I love that last word! And now I have it connected with our lovely Queen Elizabeth who put Zephyr, Ont., on the map by the royal train stopping there during the royal tour of Canada before the war.

Well, don't I ramble round? And here I am writing about the good old saint, St. Swithin. He comes in for a lot of abuse if July and August happen to be wet. He was the Bishop of Winchester, England, and lived and died in the eighth century.

The old legend says he requested that his body be buried in a certain place close to the scene of his labors for the church. However his flock did not deem it a seemly place for a churchman of such renown to be buried so they interred his body in the chancel of his special chapel.

Then trouble started for it rained and rained, and as the folk of the town were very superstitious as well as very religious, they attributed the calamity to their disobedience. Accordingly they had his body disinterred and reburied in the place he himself had chosen. The rain ceased. And so, as you can easily see, the heavy incessant rains were in their minds connected with St. Swithin. And to this day you will find many who still watch the weather very closely on July 15, St. Swithin's Day.

But that wonderful rainbow must have changed it, at least for this summer. And we love to think of Noah and his family, as they stood once again on the good earth after 40 days in the Ark, looking up at the magnificent rainbow and hearing the promise, as foretold in the ninth chapter of Genesis, that never again would God destroy the earth by water.

THE COMMON ROUND

By ISABEL INGLIS COLVILLE

MOMENTOUS MONTH - U.S.A.

Do you ever stop to wonder what would have happened if King George III had not laid his impossible taxes on what were at that time colonies to the south of us?

Would we have become one great nation or would the division have come from some other cause?

It's a fascinating thing to theorize about but instead of being one nation, we are two friendly nations, developing along lines of freedom in some ways very similar, in some as widely separated as the poles.

It has always seemed to me that if the president were non-partisan, elected by a majority which would have to come from both parties, that there would be less friction and more coherence in their national policy.

But looking on, one feels that it is the fights the two parties have which gives the spice to their whole political economy.

But surmising aside—July holds for our neighbor a day of such moment as is not often granted to any nation.

The fourth is the birthday of a great nation—the culmination of a determination to found a nation where at least in theory all men, irrespective of race, creed or color, should be equal.

It was a grand goal and although they have fallen very far short of fulfillment—witness the negro situation and the huge fortunes built in the grinding down of the workers—yet they have travelled far along freedom's path, although I cannot see that their union has in it as much of pure democracy as the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The British Commonwealth, scattered as it is, has always been conscious of the wider world around it—it had to be parts of it lay amid nations which could be hostile—there could be no isolation.

RAISE MORE & BETTER HOGS

The SHUR-GAIN way means bigger profits

Market your grains through hogs, for bigger profits. This year, hogs are vitally needed, both on the domestic and overseas markets. Plentiful grains, plus SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE, mean that you can make hog production the most profitable line on your farm!

- CONSIDER THESE FIGURES -

1. Grain, at present cash prices, is worth approximately $40.00 to $50.00 per ton.
2. 650 lbs. of grain plus $1.65 worth of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE builds 200 lbs. of pork on a weanling pig.
3. With hog prices at 17½¢ for a B1, your hog is worth $35.50 plus $2.50 bonus, or a total $38.00. Your weanling pig costs you $8.00, which clears you $30.00, less $1.65 for Hog Concentrate, or a total of $28.35 per hog. $28.35 for 650 lbs. of grain, means that your grain is worth over $80.00 per ton, when marketed through hogs!

Keeping Trust With Dead Declared Best Memorial

"Once again it is my earnest desire to express, through you, my heartfelt appreciation and most sincere thanks to all the members of the Newmarket Veterans' Association for the last fine two lots of cigarettes which I have received in very good shape," Joe Gladman writes Alex. McIntosh, secretary of the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "I should like to add to that too, for all that you gentlemen have done for us during the past years in the services. It is certainly a wonderful job and I know has meant so much to all the lads away from home. Let us hope that soon we will be able to thank each of you personally."

"It was certainly wonderful news to hear of the final and utter collapse of the Nazis. We were out in the middle of a quiet and peaceful ocean when we received the news but it must have meant so much to all those chaps up there in the 'front' when the 'cease fire' was sounded. The boys in the army have truly carried themselves wonderfully through all the toughest of the fighting and meeting the worst in fighting conditions. They have certainly upheld the fine reputation gained for the Canadians by the 'corps' in the last war. To the taste of victory though there is always the remembrance of those lads who did not return. I only hope that in the future we can see Canada and the world, too, come up to the ideals for which those brave lads were fighting and that the children of this generation will be able to enjoy a full life as it should be in a true civilization in a peaceful world untouched by those ghastly wars. The people of today have the opportunity right within their grasp. It would indeed be the best memorial and a truly everlasting one to the cherished memory of all those who paid the supreme sacrifice."

"At present our ship is engaged in transporting naval personnel back to Canada and at this writing we are in Halifax. The navy certainly has a very bad name here now and no doubt right across Canada over the VE-Day riots. It certainly was a disgraceful carry on by all accounts. No doubt it is a matter of discredit where discredit is due but at the same time the civilians had their share in the looting, etc., and the local police force, so recently praised for their work that day in the local papers, also had their share in it according to the people who witnessed the affair. But enough of this ambling on. It was a very poor show for all concerned."

"Received the 300 smokes and also a carton of chewing gum this month, which I wish to thank you for," Pte. J. F. Groves writes in a letter of appreciation to the Veterans. "It's a grand feeling for us boys over here to know that there are a group of fellows back home, veterans of the last war, helping us in this war to make the best of it over here. There is no better way to help one in the service than to keep him in Canadian smokes, as I guess you all know what the 'old Woodbine' is to smoke. I hardly think they are any better now than they were last war when you were over here smoking them."

Cards of appreciation have been received by the Veterans from David Weir and Jack Giles, both with the Canadian navy.

LOOSE SMUT IS BAD, WILL REDUCE YIELD

A great many farmers have reported that there is a great deal of loose smut in the fall wheat crop this year, which will result in a substantial reduction in yield. Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn examined one field where he made a count of the smutted head amounting to 26 percent.

Mr. Cockburn points out that this type of smut which is now blowing off onto healthy heads cannot be controlled by chemical treatment of the seed. It can be checked only by the so-called "hot water treatment" as the causal organism is inside of the kernels rather than on the surface. The spores of smut dust blows into the flowers of healthy heads and germinates in the developing grain to winter over in a dormant state.

"Farmers with a bad infestation should look around now for smut free fields from which to secure their 1945 seed," Mr. Cockburn stated. "A few seed growers have been treating enough seed for their seed plots and thus multiplying their stock of comparatively smut-free seed for sale. It should be remembered, however, that the smut will gradually increase again as it is re-infected from neighboring fields that are badly smutted. The loose smut is practically all blown away now leaving the bare stalk. The covered smut or bunt of wheat remains in the head till threshing and afterwards is carried over on the surface of the grain."

"MY HUSBAND owns three policies in The Mutual Life of Canada, which he has taken out at various times for my protection and our retirement. Two are Ordinary Life and one is Family Income.

"If anything happens to him, and I am left alone to bring up the children, I shall have an income from the insurance, and some cash to pay the bills and a reserve for emergencies. And if he lives to retirement age the cash values will give us an income."

"But I also have a policy on my own life, because I want to be able to provide proper care for the children if anything happens to me. Our Mutual Life representative pointed out that Canadian government figures prove that in one case out of every three the wife dies before the husband.

"We chose The Mutual Life in which to insure because of the good reputation of the Company for fair dealing and low cost insurance."

Ploughing Deep for Future Growth

It all means PEOPLE AT WORK

Laying underground cable is just one of the big projects which we are eager to carry forward as soon as possible—projects which lead to improved service and long-range economies and to work for thousands of people... for all our employees at home as well as those returning from war service.

SO important is the protection of Long Distance telephone communications that not even war was permitted entirely to hold up work on our great triangular underground cable route between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. Indeed, war made it more important than ever that we guard strategic telephone channels from interruption by storm and other hazards.

As the supply of men and materials increases, more and more open wire will be replaced by underground cable between London and Windsor—between Montreal and Quebec City—north from Montreal to the Laurentians—wherever increased traffic and operating conditions justify it. In addition, new areas will be brought into the Long Distance network.

Here is still another major job to be done as part of our post-war construction program.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Home again after an absence of six months and two weeks is one of Canada's most popular athletes, Earl McCready, better known to wrestling and sport fans as "The Aurora Farmer." Earl left just after Christmas for an extended tour of western Canada, the Pacific coast, and mid-west states. He wrestled as far south as Los Angeles, and had quite a few bouts in Vancouver. During his tour he met the best grapplers on that circuit, and won the lion's share of his bouts. McCready is very popular out that way, and he will likewise be royally welcomed in the east by the Toronto and district fans.

During his trip he lost some 30 pounds, not so much through his wrestling activities but because he made a change in his diet. He is still well over 200 pounds and at his best wrestling weight. He took time out from his work to visit his relatives in the west and also plans a short holiday here before hitting the grind again.

Top fan of the North York district when it comes to wrestling is Harvey Schell, Stouffville butcher, who hasn't missed a bout at Maple Leaf Gardens since away back, and regularly fills the same seat. He generally takes some of his cronies with him and knows his wrestlers like very few of the faithful. Recently, he chipped in $25 for the Hospital for Sick Children. With Frank Tunney, Bob Wagner, Whipper Watson, Tommy McLure and some of the other fans including Liquor Commissioner Bill Webster helping, close to $200 was raised for this worthy fund.

Orillia is the latest Ontario centre to go hook, line and sinker for the pachyderm productions, and the fans there are tossing pop bottles, and pulling hair as well as they do in the big cities. John Katan, Red Vagone, Whipper Watson, and Toar Morgan are some of the better known wrestlers to appear in the Couchiching town. The success of wrestling is well illustrated in this case. In what other sport would headliners appear in a town of this size, with a crowd of not over 1,200 people, and give their best? The answer is obvious. With the possible exception of golf you won't find any. Oshawa is another place, where wrestling is assuming an importance by way of gates as a rival of hockey. There is none, other than those who still believe in Kris Kringle, who doesn't know the wrestling set-up, and still they go to see honest workmen at amusing toil. It speaks for itself.

Bill Kerr displayed some fine golf last week in the Millar Cup matches, and he looms as a serious threat when the open is played at the Thornhill club early in August. Looking over the scores carded, on opening day and throughout the tournament we note some familiar names. Bill Cross, who won the championship of the Aurora Golf club a few years ago, posted a 177 on opening day. Bill is playing from the St. Andrew's club. Cy Wentworth, ex-Maroons hockey star and who coached Etobicoke juniors in the local junior B group a few years ago, carded a 167.

Eddie Morris, ex-Aurora Lee hockeyist and who for a good many years was one of the leaders in athletics and de luxe Sundays at Wilcox Lake, scored a 170. Lionel Ross, ex-professional at Summit and now at the Cobourg club, was home in 159, two strokes more than Gordy DeLaat who had a 157. DeLaat, who went to the final round last year against Kerr, is an amateur player and he was a member of the Aurora ordinance hockey club as a civilian when Aurora Army won the O.H.A. intermediate crown in 1943. Bill Chinnery of Willowdale, now a sergeant at Petawawa camp, had a 79 round the first day and then relaxed.

Closer to home, we have omitted to report previously two fine wins in handicap events at the Aurora Golf and Country club. Eddie Chatterley, ye olde left hander, recently won the Mulock trophy while Harold Fringle, better known as "Joe," blasted his way home on the holiday in front of a strong field to take one of the Elmsley trophies. More tournaments are in sight, and despite the rain the boys have been getting in some fine rounds in recent weeks.

Tony Saso of Barrie, one of the leading players of that club and also known for his hockey prowess, has been elected president of the Barrie Lions club.

Our thanks to the correspondent who signs himself "Southern Fan" and who draws to our attention that we have omitted to give an account of softball down Willowdale way. Well, there are three fast leagues functioning there we learn. There is the three club bantam league of Lansing, Bretts and Newtonbrook; a junior league of three clubs with Willowdale replacing the Bretts entry; and a three club girls' softball circuit, with the same set up.

Sez our unknown friend: "I remember when Willowdale used to play in the girls' softball league with Thornhill, Aurora and Newmarket and I believe the present crop is almost as good as the team which included Jessie Glover and the Chinnery sisters. I think they would like to play off with the girls in the Newmarket league."

Lacrosse challenges have been forwarded to Camp Borden by Lieut. Logan, maestro of the Newmarket camp lacrosse team, and according to the dope, some games will shortly be available for the fans. The Newmarket players include Digweed, the boxer and hockeyist from St. Catharines; Chuck Nesbitt, who learned the game at Bradford, Saint and Elliott of Mimico; Sgt. Harry Comrie, the veteran baseball hurler, and hockeyists Jack Doyle, Chuck Shannon, Billy Taylor and Joint McComb among others. A pretty fair collection of players and one able to hold its own in some of the usual lacrosse sidelights. There is a three-club league in action at Camp Borden made up of infantry, armored corps and medics. Armored corps have such gutted stick artists as Bill Mulliss of Brampton, Russ Slater, of Owen Sound, Capt. Cordingley of Weston, Joe Fennell, ex-Newmarket camp softballer, Ed Young, the hockey defence star, Peterson of New Westminster Salmonbellies, as well as others.

Incidentally, by a poll of soldier votes softball rates as top sport with 55 percent and Canada's national game gets a 15 percent vote from the khaki-clad, a sad reflection on the state of the game and the promotional work of its leaders who seem asleep at the switch.

After a slow start, Marj. McCannan, is beginning to powder the ball lustily at Sunnyside and while she doesn't rank in the top ten hitters, she will doubtless reach the charmed circle as usual before the season ends. She has scored 17 runs, however, to rank third in the group in this valuable department.

We saw an unusual battery combination in action not long ago in the Dentonia league. Cecos have a father and son combination that is really good. Cee. McCarroll, in his early 30's, handles the pitching duties, while his 17-year-old son, Gordy McCarroll, does the catching. This is the second year and if Dad can hold out they will be really attracting attention next season.

Speaking of battery combinations, Stouffville juveniles have come up with a neat brother act. The pitching duties are handled by either Raxlin or Lorne Schell, who can still pitch midget. Rated as just about the best kid catcher in the entire league is Ken Schell, who is not two years older than Lorne. Both boys are the son of Harvey Schell whom we mentioned earlier and they again provide Stouffville with a brother battery combination as of yore when the Lehman brothers, Lou and Bruce, used to thrill the fans. We can recall Harold and Ev Learoyd at Aurora in action too. The only other kid brother combination performing in Lions baseball is that of the Simmons brothers of Aurora, sons of Leonard Simmons, president of the league. Ronnie is a pitcher and a good one, while Gerry alternates in either the outfield or infield. Ronnie also is good enough to pitch for the juveniles most of the time. As kid baseball continues to expand further brother acts can be expected.

Chuck Bennitz, former Aurora-Newmarket - Sutton lacrosse player, is at Camp Borden with armored corps and will likely try his hand at boxla once again. Congratulations to Cpl. Bernie Gantner, second sacker for Newmarket camp softballers, on the birth of a son in Denver, Colorado, and to Howard Folliott, one of North York's best all-round athletes, on his marriage to Miss M. E. Davey of Toronto.

Charlie Cunningham, one of the best outfielders ever to play with Newmarket Redmen, is engaged in the brokerage business in Toronto these days and doing right well we hear. With the discharge from the army of Bert Tunney, one of Aurora's leading sports promoters over the years, it can be taken as read that Aurora will be represented in junior hockey this winter if Bert remains in town. It was Bert who was responsible for the starting of that Aurora junior hockey club of the 30's which went through to the junior C title. Ewart Pinder is still around as is Stew Patrick, but Charlie Rowntree is missing from the board of strategy.

Leon Coupland, a member of the Aurora Cycling club, is back from overseas, and also Floyd Yake, the ex-Aurora softballer, who kept this column well supplied with overseas news the past few years. "Ace" had a round of golf at the famous Horsham club while overseas and reports the English loan clubs and balls and charge no green fees for Canadian soldiers. With two balls only, and the owner hoping the balls won't be lost, it's no place for a southpaw, or anyone off their game.

He became quite a soccer fan, and reports huge crowds following the English game. Arsenal was his favorite club and he says this eleven has a cheer-leading section, thousands of followers decked in their colors (Continued on Page 9)

"Self-Propelled"

Another Move Forward for Agriculture

New developments in machinery have always had a marked effect upon farming. The reaper, the binder, the tractor and power farming equipment, and the combine all have helped farmers do their work easier, quicker and more profitably.

The latest development in farm equipment, the self-propelled combine perfected by MASSEY-HARRIS prior to the war, has revolutionized harvesting. It has also opened up new possibilities to the implement engineer for developments in other types of farm machinery that will bring increased advantages in the saving of time and labor.

With the MASSEY-HARRIS self-propelled combine, one man with the grain tank model can harvest sixty acres and upwards in a day. Costs are less, too, because one motor operates the mechanism and propels the machine. Grain is saved, none being knocked down and shelled in opening the field. Anyone who can drive a car can learn to operate a self-propelled combine.

Good farm management employs the advantages of modern equipment to speed up the work, save labor, increase production and lower production costs. It is easier to farm profitably with good equipment. Your local dealer will be glad to give you full particulars about the self-propelled combine and other machines in the MASSEY-HARRIS line engineered and built to meet the needs of modern farming.

Notice to Veterans ALL BRANCHES OF CANADA'S ARMED SERVICES

IT HAS BEEN BROUGHT to the attention of the Department of Veterans Affairs that efforts are being made by unscrupulous promoters to defraud ex-service men and women of their war services grants and re-establishment credits.

The Department of Veterans Affairs is anxious to obtain information in regard to any such instances so that action may be taken to recover such funds and, where possible, to take steps to see that legal action is instituted against those who have defrauded Canada's veterans.

If any returned veteran, has experienced any such frauds, please write immediately giving full particulars so that an investigation may be made by law enforcement officers in the community involved.

In the meantime, for your own protection, sign no documents involving your war service grants or re-establishment credits until you have consulted the officials of this department.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS

TAKES GROUND CREW ON RUHR BOMB TOURS

"Well, here I go with lions, elephants, snakes, rhino and goodness knows what about me," FO Myles Melness writes from Kenya in east Africa in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund.

"Actually, you never saw a more quiet and peaceful country. Can't tell you where I am but it's not a bad joint. A town something like good old Newmarket, but with plenty of nice Wrens in it.

"I've just come off 23 days' leave and enjoyed every day of it. I went with my Aussie navigator and he's a scream. We had V1, 2 and 3 nights in Nairobi and must say really had some hot old parties and thought of the folks at home, whether they were having the same good time.

"Received two packages of cigarettes from you on leave and another yesterday. Thanks a million for all you have sent. You'll never know how much they are appreciated and also the way you fellows have looked after us since we left home.

"Part of my leave I spent at the foot of Mount Kenya, a lovely spot for a honeymoon, only I didn't have a bride. Guess all the girls at home now are banging the ball about the old park."

"I want to give my sincere thanks to the Vets for the cigarettes I have received since being overseas." WO Robert Cody writes the Veterans. "As many of the other boys overseas have told you, it really gives us a real thrill to receive them.

"Lately on leave in London and Edinburgh I have met quite a few boys from the home town. Some are going back home and some staying in Germany for a while, but all anxious to get back.

"Since VE-Day we in the air force have been doing very little of anything at times. Since VE-Day myself I have been with crews taking ground personnel on what we call 'Ruhr tours', showing them the damage done to German cities. I only wish that some of you could see it for yourselves. London wasn't touched compared with Cologne or Essen, etc. As one British statesman stated in one of the English papers last week, 'Germany will never be normal again'.

"Thank God that didn't happen to our homes. I expect to be home very shortly and will be more than pleased to see Newmarket again."

"We are over here for several weeks then return home for some leave," OS Gordon Cockburn writes the Veterans, acknowledging the receipt of cigarettes. "We brought our ship back to turn it over to the R.N. It was one built in Canada for the R.N. but they gave it to Canada for the duration. Ours was the first corvette in the Canadian navy and still has lots of punch left to it.

"I haven't come across any fellows from home yet but I expect to go to London next week and may run across some then."

"Again I wish to thank the members of the Veterans' Association for another gratefully appreciated carton of cigarettes," writes S.B.A. Bob Brooks in a letter from Newfoundland. "The way they were enjoyed by a few of my fellow S.B.A.'s and myself gave every indication that Canadian cigarettes are still the popular choice of Canadian servicemen.

"The weather here has at last made a definite change for the better and we are enjoying our first week of warm, summer-like days."

Cards of appreciation have been received by the Veterans from Pte. David Hartford, Pte. N. L. Park and LAC W. S. Jones.

CORECTAL LENSES

Foster Homes Sought By Children's Aid Society

Miss Mora Skelton, who calls herself a "home-finder" for the York County Children's Aid Society, draws attention to the urgent need of foster homes for the wards of the society. In a recent statement, she enlarges upon the work done by the society in placing children where they will benefit from a normal home life. Her statement follows:

"Most people realize that one important function of a Children's Aid Society is to care for children whose own homes have, by reason of family misfortune or neglect, broken down to the serious detriment of the children. Very often the passing of some crisis will enable such a family to re-establish itself and take the children home again. In other cases the breakdown may be such that the children have to be made wards of the society, by court order, for long periods of time. Whether they are to be in the care of the society for a long time or short, these children are placed as quickly as possible in foster homes in order that they may have the benefit of a normal home life.

"In this work the Children's Aid Society of York county and the foster parents, without whose magnificent contribution the society could not operate, are carrying out the wishes of the community. The Children's Protection Act was passed by your representative in parliament. Funds for maintenance of the children come almost entirely from a county grant.

"When a child is placed in a foster home it is with the hope that he will be treated as one of the family who 'belongs', who is little different from the other youngsters on the street. It is in the preservation of this normal home atmosphere that foster home care differs from institutional care, and is superior to it. Here a child may obtain the same sense of security, the same physical care, the same training for future citizenship as his more fortunate little brothers enjoy in their own homes.

"The Children's Aid Society of York county pays $21 a month for board for a child under the age of two, $18 a month for a child over the age of two. Clothing and medical and dental attention is provided by the society. Children range in age from infants to young people of up to 16 years.

"Before any placement is made the child in question is discussed with the prospective foster parents—his personality, any particular circumstance that might affect his adjustment, his probable length of stay. Sometimes the social worker who knows the case is not sure at first how long the child is to be in care. That depends on what plans the family is able to make. But she will be able to say whether it is to be a matter of weeks, or of years. If, in the light of the picture so drawn, the applicant would like to offer a home to this little person, he is placed in the home. After placement the foster mother receives periodic visits from the worker responsible for the child—to discuss his progress, to arrange for needed supplies, to take the child to clinic.

"It is the society's hope that, once placed, a child may stay in his new home, for it is upsetting to a child to move too often. But if the placement is not working out well, the society will make other plans. No one is 'saddled with' a child.

"It is really difficult to imagine a more worthwhile service than our foster parents are performing. The community is benefited by the wholesome environment given these future citizens during their formative years, the children are blessed with the affection and security they so much need, the foster parents share a fascinating and satisfying experience. If anyone wishes further information, enquiries may be made to York County Children's Aid Society, 73 St. Clair Ave. E., Toronto, RA2148."

WINNERS HAVE CHOICE OF TWO PROGRAMS

The contests are evidently getting too hard or else it's the heat or maybe the country people are too busy. At any rate, only two contestants sent in correct answers to last week's contest.

Mrs. P. Fray, R. 2, Newmarket, and Miss Mary Reynolds, Cedar Valley, will each receive a double pass either on Tuesday or Thursday night of next week, whichever they prefer. On Tuesday night they will see Edward G. Robinson and Joan Bennett in Human In The Window, and Ross Hunter and Lynn Merrick in A Guy, A Gal and A Pal, or on Thursday night, Chas. Boyer, Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson star in Flesh and Fantasy and Dick Powell and Anne Shirley star in Murder My Sweet.

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST

Five double passes will be given this week to winners of the classified ad contest. The winners will have their choice of the program at the Strand theatre on Tuesday, July 31, when A Tree Grows In Brooklyn starring Dorothy McGuire, Joan Blondell, Ted Donaldson and Lloyd Nolan will be shown or on Thursday, Aug. 2, when Bring On The Girls with Veronica Lake, Sonny Tufts and Eddie Bracken and Tiger Shark will be the features.

Answers must reach The Era and Express office by 9:30 Tuesday morning. Only one entry will be accepted from any one household or family and the entry must be in the contestant's own handwriting.

Contestants are asked to send their entries in on a slip of paper two and a half inches by four and a half inches (2½" x 4½").

The contest is open to everyone this week. The first letter of the ten classified words has been dropped and the words were then scrambled. Here they are: YMOHTI, RELAE, ECRTICL, A ANSLCTUD, TURAKS, LAIRE, EERCTUDD, IETSN, OONNMABIT, EIAOSLN.

In Memoriam

Hoare—In loving memory of our dear father, Fred Hoare, who passed away July 10, 1943.

He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way.

He was so kind, so generous and true.

A helping hand to all he knew; On earth he nobly did his best, Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.

Ever remembered by his sons and daughters.

Pattenden—In fond and loving memory of my dear mother, Della May Pattenden, who passed away July 17, 1935.

Ten years have passed since that sad day

The one we loved was called away.

God took her home, it was His will.

But in our hearts she liveth still.

Ever remembered by daughter, Ruth, George and family.

Sanderson—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Sanderson, who passed away July 24, 1939.

It's loneliness here without you Dad,

There is such a vacant space,

For we never hear your footsteps

Or see your smiling face.

As angels keep their watch up there,

Please God just let him know

That we down here do not forget

We love and miss him so.

Sadly missed by his daughter, Martha, son-in-law, Jim, and grandson, George.

Sanderson—In loving memory of Thos. Sanderson, who passed away July 24, 1939.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,

His weary trials and troubles are past;

In silence he suffered, in patience he bore

Till God called him home to suffer no more.

Ever remembered by his wife and son, Harold.

Wilson—In loving memory of Arthur E. Wilson, who passed away July 20, 1903.

Beautiful memories are all I have left

Of him I loved dearly and shall never forget

His loving smile and happy face,

A broken link we can never replace.

Sad was the parting, no one can tell,

So sudden on earth the sorrow fell.

Memories I treasure, no one can steal,

Death leaves a heartache nothing can heal.

Sadly missed by his wife, Minnie.

SERVING AURORA AND DISTRICT

C Company, Queen's Yorks Under Canvas At Niagara

Early Sunday morning, close to 30 members of C Coy., Queen's York Rangers, assembled at the Aurora Armory to leave for annual reserve army training at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Proceeding to Fort York Armory they joined the county unit and proceeded across Lake Ontario by boat.

At Niagara, they paraded to the camp under the command of Lieut.-Col. C. H. Reeve, E.D., officer commanding, lead by the Queen's York band. The lines this year are near the "Sally Ann," and are those used last year, and in 1941. There are around 300 officers and men in camp, and adjacent to the York county men are the Grey-Simcoe Foresters and the Argyl-Sutherland Highlanders. R.S.M. William Stocks, Captain W. W. Gardhouse and R.Q.M.S. Alfred Headley had arrangements to greet the unit well in hand.

C.Q.M.S. Howard Bunn, of C Coy., motored over on Saturday and had the company quarters well established when the rest arrived.

Training this year has been divided into four main sections: (A), advanced training for second and third year men. Major R. G. Mitchell is in charge of this training and Lieut. L. J. Bell, C Coy., is on the instructional cadre. (B), modified basic training. Capt. Tom Hopkins, O.C. of North York company, heads the staff in this training. (C), N.C.O.'s fieldcraft course under the direction of Major C. Stevens, Lieut. Delroy Babcock, C Coy., is on this cadre. (D), specialists' training and schools under the direction of Major John Webster. Capt. Gladstone Lloyd, Schomberg, is in charge of signals.

These four groups will function the first week, along with a certain amount of company training. The second week will see this latter phase carried out as well as range work, route marches, etc. Training embraces such subjects as map reading, Bren, Sten, rifle, anti-gas, field-cooking, mortars, fieldcraft, field works and tactics.

Sports will also play a part in the daily work with Capt. G. E. Pearson in charge, and Lieut. Babcock will also be hard at work in this field. Major R. Barnett, the unit M.O., is looking after the health interests of the men the first week and next week, Capt. Dr. C. J. Devins, Aurora, will be at camp.

Among those in attendance from C Coy. are: Capt. Thomas Hopkins, Lieut. L. J. Bell and Delroy Babcock, C.S.M. Jack Orr, C.Q.M.S. Howard Bunn, Sgts. George Shouls, Sydney Lustic and Harold Corbett, A-Sgt. Jim Cherry, Cpls. Joseph Clarke, and Ernie Sherwood, L-Cpls. Burt Gilbert, Gilbert Osterhuis, Ptes. Walter Bunn, Bill Babcock, Bob Orr, Vern Matthews, Doug. Nesbitt, Ben Bates, Jack Monkman, M. Seathair, J. Mabbitt, L. Metcalfe, J. Litvnick and M. Gaston. A complete list was not available when the company left as some members were due to join the company later.

Absent from camp through illness is veteran Sgt. Charlie Ellis, while others have been excused because of pressure of business or farm work. Familiar faces to the North York boys with other companies are Lieut. Doug. Lucas, Lieut. D. E. Wade, and Sgt. Tommy Bartlett, former members of the company.

As usual, the North York boys can be counted upon to make a good showing and hold their own all along the line with the rest of the unit.

WELL KNOWN BUSINESSMAN, J. RUSH, BORN IN DISTRICT

One of the best known business men in western Ontario, born in the Aurora district, is J. Hervey Rush of Delhi and Tillsonburg, who retired from active business at the age of 74. Mr. Rush rose from apprentice clerk to the position of owner of several large dry-goods stores. He was 15 when he started work in Orillia.

Mr. Rush comes of an old district family, his father being Benjamin Rush. His grandfather, Peter Rush, was an U.E.L. from Pennsylvania, where the family loyalties appear to have been divided, since a certain Dr. Benjamin Rush signed the Declaration of Independence. Benjamin Rush (1824-1906), a son of grandfather Peter Rush, married Jane Edwards. J. Hervey Rush, the youngest of the seven children of this couple, was born on the 3rd concession of King township, three miles west of Aurora. When he was two and a half years old, his father bought a corner farm half a mile north. The moving from the log-house to the larger one impressed itself vividly on the child's mind, especially the tearing down of a large fireplace in the latter and packing of the rubble about the well.

The long seats facing the desks of the pioneer school where the small middle boys were victims on both sides of pinches by the outer ones, is another memory.

The little log mission up on the Gamble road run by Quaker ladies, Miss Rachel Cleland and Miss Martha Rogers (a sister of the late Samuel and Elias Rogers, of Toronto) was too far for a child to attend, so the opening of the large King Mission Sunday-school on the Lloyd-stage Road, when Hervey was eight, was a red letter day for him. Ever after, Sunday-schools were part of his life. In Tillsonburg J. H. Rush was superintendent of St. Paul's United church Sunday-school for 34 years. Miss Rogers was superintendent of the old King Sunday-school until her departure as a missionary for India where she was largely supported by the home King Mission.

Another Sunday-school notable of that time and district was the late Hon. E. J. Davis. Mr. Davis moved his tannery from King to Newmarket where it became a factory, producing the famous Davis calf leather now coveted by merchants. The boy Hervey used also to go to the Aurora smithy with his father and watch Benjamin Rush, who was so handy with plows and harrows, little dreaming that Fleury farm implements would become a household word. And from the highest point of his father's land, the boy used to look across country to the Yonge St. corner where the late Sir William Mulock was building his beautiful summer home and planting his walnuts.

The country around Aurora remains ever dear to all the Rush family, who are taken back there to lie for their last rest in the family plot in the hillside cemetery of Aurora with its fine view of the lovely surrounding landscape.

MILDRED DAVEY
WEDS AIRMAN

St. Michael and All Angels' church, Toronto, beautifully adorned with gladioli and delphinium, was the scene of a June 30th wedding. Mildred Evelyn Davey, daughter of Mrs. Davey and the late J. The bride, given in marriage by Mr. N. Brassey, wore a white satin and net gown, orange blossom headress and a floor-length veil. She carried a cascade of roses and bouvardia. Mrs. N. Brassey, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore coral pink and carried a nosegay of roses and sweet peas.

Ross Follitt, brother of the groom, acted as best man and the ushers were Frank French and Harold Follitt.

The bride's mother received at the bride's home on Kenwood Ave., Toronto, wearing a gown of printed crepe and a corsage of roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing pastel pink and a corsage of roses.

Rationing helps the FARMER

HERE'S HOW!

- Rationing assures everyone a fair share of scarce foods. Without rationing, farmers might get all the butter they need; they might not get sugar. City dwellers might get sugar but no butter.
- Rationing helps to keep prices steady.
- Rationing has assured farmers sufficient ammunition to protect their crops and livestock.
- Rationing makes it possible for farmers to get coupons to feed harvesters and other transient farm workers.

The FARMER helps Rationing

HERE'S HOW!

- By collecting and turning in the coupons required against the use and sale of butter and the sale of home and rationed maple products.
- By turning in the ration coupons required for the purchase of sugar, flour, and other rationed goods.

Rationing is not intended to add unnecessarily to the burden of Canadian farmers who, faced with shortages of labour, materials and machinery, have continued to respond to repeated calls for greater production.

It is a protection against waste . . . shortages . . . inflation.

Reeve Opposes $2.50 Rate For Powered Weed Mower

"I am definitely opposed to paying $2.50 an hour for a power mower to cut weeds," declared Reeve George Leary in urging Whitchurch council, in regular session on Saturday, to reduce this rate or discontinue the use of power cutters for the job.

Road Superintendent Widdfield said he thought the work could be done at $2 per hour but other members of the council doubted this. Deputy-Reeve Evans feared that a power cutter could not be induced on the job at less than $2.50 per hour.

Discussion arose when it was suggested that the pay for man and team be raised from 70 cents per hour to $1. The resolution which carried was moved by Deputy-Reeve Evans and Councilor Harper and read:

"That the road superintendent hereby instruct all road overseers to pay $1 per hour for man and team and mower cutting weeds or grass on roadside, and that the overseers be urged to get the work done. If power mower is available the rate shall be $2.50 per hour."

The resolution carried with Councilors McLaughlin and Logan supporting and the reeve stating he was definitely opposed.

Deputy-Reeve Evans then introduced a resolution to stop the weed spraying machine operating in the township when it was found that the cost per mile was averaging around $125 of sprayed area. "I consider it too high," said the deputy-reeve. Road Superintendent Widdfield said all the work done so far was between Yonge St. and the third concession which was dense and that the cost would only be half where the growth was not so dense. There was no opposition to calling off the Toronto contractor and the resolution seconded by Councilor Logan carried without opposition.

The by-law ratifying the fire agreement between Whitchurch and Aurora whereby the Aurora brigade will service the west half of the township from Yonge St. to the west side of the sixth concession was given its several readings and passed. The area served will bear the cost, namely, an annual fee of $250, plus $40 per fire for the first hour, and $10 per hour for each subsequent hour. The contract may be terminated by either party on 30 days written notice.

Councillor Harper said that people in the northern part were kicking because the Newmarket brigade did not take an area. It was pointed out that Newmarket refused to service the township at one period and Aurora took on the work.

The west side of the township has been given protection by Aurora all this year on the terms of the agreement now signed and sealed. The cost to the individual ratepayer will be collected by a special levy on the tax bill of all ratepayers from Yonge St. to and including the west side of the sixth concession.

Dr. C. J. Devins was ordered to be paid $150 for sheep killed and injured. He was allowed $60 for four killed, $45 for three killed, and $35 flock damage following one attack by dogs on April 10; then on June 25 one more sheep was killed, valued at $10. C. Hicks filed a claim for one sheep killed and was allowed $20.

by several thousand spectators who make their presence known.
He saw Scotty Reid, ex-Oshawa Orillia camp hockeyist on provost duty. We'll have more overseas sports news from him from time to time.

Received an airmail from Les Beazer, from Calgary, Alberta, where the famous stampede is in action from July 9 to July 14.
Last year the big event attracted no less than 285,458 cash customers, and Les says this year's show will attract the biggest attendance in its 60 years of "Yippay-Ai-Oh." The parade through the streets of Calgary was colossal, dynamic and out of this world, and when Beazer uses words like that you know he is stymied to actually describe it.

He saw Jimmy Lowe, the former Aurora hockeyist who is out west with the R.C.A.F. and was transferred from Vancouver to Calgary. James sent regards as did also the youngest of the Duttons, now with the navy, and former student at Pickering College. Dutton, son of "Red" Dutton, president of the National Hockey League, sent extra hellos to the gang at Pickering and particularly to Tommy Myers, the athletic coach at McCulley campus, who, as usual, is spending his summer at a boys' camp.

Alfie Phillips, Canadian and British Empire diving champion, Ruth Black, Canadian free style swimming champion are co-workers with Les in the Aquacade, and Tommy McClure of Sunnyside fame is master of ceremonies. The show is really drawing crowds, and from Calgary they move to Edmonton.
Glad to hear from our old friend,
and we are sure the sports fans
of the district are too.

Paddy Miles of Midhurst, who unpired many a game in the York-Simcoe football league, is the new coach of the Harmony Grill team at Barrie, which club has most of the old guard of Barrie footballers in action. Ken Loneragan, better known as "Bunny" to the folks in Aurora, is now employed in Barrie, and the big youngster who has persevered at baseball and softball got a chance to play for Harmony Grillers a few weeks ago, when they were shorthanded, and he turned in a pretty fair effort, even though the opposition wasn't very tough.

John Stuart runs in his usual good-luck with his apprentice rider, young Len Stroud, being generally regarded as one of the most promising in the business.
Mr. Stuart, who has Stroud under contract, has loaned his services to several American stables in order that the lad may get more experience. It will seem funny this year to see Reg Hamilton off the Toronto Leafs defence and with the Blackhawks. We understand that this is but the first of several deals which will see the Leafs dispose of veteran players, and that in addition, others are scheduled for retirement to make way for younger players. Hamilton, who played junior hockey against the championship Newmarket Redmen and was a teammate of Pep Kelley and Don Wilson at St. Mike's, has always given his best and should have a few more good seasons left.
Major Gerry Goodman of Aurora who served as sports officer at Petawawa Camp, has retired from the army after five years service and is now on holiday before entering business. Maj.
Goodman is a former N.H.L.
hockey referee and was director of playgrounds for the city of London.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Theft Of Boot Heels
Brings Suspended Term

Traffic cases and a charge of theft of government property featured the magistrate's court in Newmarket Friday. Magistrate W. E. McIlveen presided.

Robert Edward Huntley, Aurora, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of four pairs of rubber boot heels and one pair of soles from the Aurora ordnance depot. Pte. C. G. Bones, a guard at the depot, testified that he found the articles in the lunch box of the accused as he was leaving the depot.

Capt. C. J. Bradley of the depot testified that the accused, a civilian, had worked at the depot for six or eight months. "Were you satisfied with his work?"
asked Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong. "Yes, very satisfied," replied witness.

"I know something of the accused's background," said Mr.
Armstrong. "His health is not too robust and prior to this offence, he had not been in trouble. I understand that this case has been brought before the court to draw attention to the seriousness of taking government property."

"I am giving you a suspended sentence of three months," Magistrate McIlveen told the accused.
"Government property must be protected."
Pte. Roy Sedore pleaded guilty to driving without an operator's license and not guilty to charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving in a manner dangerous to the public. The charges were laid by Acting Chief Constable James Leader
following an accident on Main St. the night of July 7. Accused was found guilty of leaving the scene of the accident and fined $25 and costs.

Miss Marion F. VanNostrand, Vandorf, testified that on the night of July 7, the car she was driving came into collision with another car on Main St., Newmarket, just north of the hill.
"A car travelling south came towards me as I started down the hill. It swerved as it passed me, colliding with my car, and turned west on the first street," witness stated.

She said that the damage to her car amounted to around $5 or $10.

Chief Leader testified that he had just backed into Dr. L. W.
Dales' driveway when he heard the sound of two cars colliding.
"I saw the car travelling north had stopped in the street and the other car had turned along Millard Ave. I caught the license number. I first checked with Miss Van Nostrand to see if anyone was hurt and then chased the car. I caught up with it on Yonge St. The lights of the car were going on and off. I stopped the car and asked for the driver's permit. He did not have a license."

As part of the evidence, an application for a driving permit in the name of the accused was entered. The application noted that the accused had passed his road test. "Accused had been drinking but I wouldn't say he was drunk," Chief Leader said.

It was stated on behalf of the accused that he had taken the collision to be no more than a small scrape, one not worth stopping for. "The implications of the chase cannot be denied," stated the crown attorney. "I must ask for a conviction in regards to leaving the scene of the accident."

"I am dismissing the dangerous driving charge and the charge of driving without a license," said Magistrate McIl-veen, "and fining accused $25 and cost on the charge of leaving the scene of the accident."
Bernard Delaney, a member of the Royal Canadian Navy, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place. A similar charge against

A pretty July wedding was that of Irene Isobel, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pattenden, Vandorf, and Clarence James Foote, youngest son of Mr.

ville, which took place in Wesley United church.

tiful. There was a paper on

Mrs. Mather, Kapuskasing, is spending a few weeks at her old home in town.
Farmers are digging a few new potatoes which are very good so far. Haying has been put back by the heavy rains and fall wheat is down badly in places, due to heavy crop and the rains.

Mr. and Mrs. David Harwood and family, Amherst Island, spent a few days in town visiting old friends.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Summerfeldt, now living at Cannington and former residents of Mount Albert, who were married at Cherrywood 55 years ago on Monday, July 16. The day was passed quietly at their home in Cannington where they have lived for some years.

Knitters are needed for the Navy League and Red Cross. If you can do this please ask for yarn at Steeper's store.

The bride's sister, gowned in delphinium blue crepe with flower hat of the same color, played the wedding music.

To List Those Serving In Forces From Township

The township council of Whitchurch will become the nucleus of an organization whose duty and aim it will be to register the names of all who served in this war as soldier, sailor, airman or nurse. The aid of Women's Institutes, Red Cross, and church organizations will be sought in gathering this list.

It is planned to hold a public meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 26, when a committee will be formed, representative of all organizations whose duty it will be to complete the list, together with certain information about each person who has served in uniform. Forms will be provided in which of which will be determined for this purpose, the exact word at the September meeting.

The desire for compiling such a record is twofold. It will be a valuable piece of information to file away in the township records, and it will be very necessary to have these names should the municipality decide on making any formal recognition in have served. Indeed, there is some tangible way to those who every possibility of this being done, probably at the conclusion of the Japanese war or before, is revived this September, it be the names and when the matter but the first step is to compile hooves all residents of the municipality to lend a hand that none may be missed.

Richmond Hill Meeting Urged For Wheat Men

Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn of Newmarket announces a field meeting sponsored by the York County Crop Improvement Association on Tuesday evening, July 24, at 7.30 sharp at Don Head Farms, Richmond Hill, and Leitchcroft Farms, two miles east of Langstaff. On these farms are plots of wheat varieties being tested by the Department of Field Husbandry, O.A.C., for disease resistance, winter hardiness and improved milling qualities.

Particular attention will be paid to the presence of the loose smut of wheat that is causing such extensive damage in York county. Professor W. H. Waddell of the O.A.C., previously of the Dominion Rust and Smut Laboratories of Winnipeg, will be present to lead discussion. Professor Waddell has spent a number of years in selecting and introducing rust and smut resistant varieties of wheat in Manitoba. In addition Frank Marritt, Keswick, president, York County Crop Improvement Association, will discuss the merits and limitations of the so-called "hot water" method of control of loose smut.

The meeting will commence promptly at 7.30 at Don Head Farms, one and a half miles directly west of Richmond Hill. Following a tour of these plots the group will journey to Leitchcroft for further inspection and discussion of loose smut. A lucky draw will take place for all those present at 7.30, the winner receiving one bushel of registered seed wheat from elite stock.
